Annual Checkup Picture This

Look at the image above, there is a worker who looks in very bad health probably because of a lack of medical annual check-up.

Many people experience health problems on the job at some point in their careers. However, the problems may be more pervasive and dangerous than some employers realize.