Annual Checkup Stats and Facts

WORKPLACE HEALTH CHECKS

Workplace health checks help to identify health problems early before they become serious enough to take a person off the job – and that's a good thing for both company and staff.

PREVENTATIVE HEALTH CARE MEASURES

Trending Statistics

- While over 80% of Americans had some form of healthcare coverage, roughly 25% didn't go to the doctor for a routine checkup in the past year.
- Only a third of insured Americans got flu shots, and just 17% of uninsured people did, even though there are places to get it for free, with or without health insurance.
- Health Testing Centers looked into a 2019 report by the CDC's Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System, and found some surprising results about just how often Americans are going for health checks.
- They found that for those making less than $15,000 dollars a year, 21% said they have "never" been insured.