

Company Accused of Petroleum Storage Violation

The government has charged a Campbellton area company and its director with removing a petroleum storage tank without giving the Environment Minister five days' notice in violation of the petroleum storage and handling regulations of the New Brunswick Clean Environment Act.

[Govt. of New Brunswick News Release]