Company Cited for Two Alleged Repeat Violations at Cumming, GA, Worksite

OSHA inspectors found that a utility contractor had been installing pipe through a trench that was six feet deep and 50 feet long, without a means of employee egress and without a protective system in place. The same company was cited for similar violations in 2006. The proposed penalty is $50,000.

[Northern Pipeline Construction Co., Fairburn, GA. Release number 08-83-ATL (015), Jan. 25, 2008].