Emergency Preparedness for Childcare: Fire, Weather, and Lockdown Drills That Work Picture This

The image shows children lined up in a hallway while two educators appear uncertain about which direction to move.

What’s wrong is not the drill, but the hesitation. Uncertainty costs time.

What should be avoided is unclear leadership during emergencies. The behaviour to model is decisive action, clear direction, and immediate accountability.