Picture This! Hold it Steady, Boys

There’s never a shortage of ladder lunacy playing out in workplaces across the world. Here, a worker using a too-short ladder gets a boost from three co-workers. You’ll also notice he is straddling an electrical line. While the power must have been shut off, this arrangement still puts the worker’s safety, and that of others, in significant danger. (Naval Safety Center)