

Quick Course – First Aid – Electrical Burns

Course Description

High voltage electricity creates a lot of heat and takes the most direct route it can find between its point of contact and where it can leave the body. This means it causes significant burns to any muscle, nerves or internal organs it passes through.