Quick Course – Shiftwork

For many people, their workday either starts in the afternoon and ends late at night, or begins around midnight and ends in the early morning. This quick course covers awareness for shiftwork workers because safety is just as critical as it is with the day crew, but the conditions and hazards may be different.