Work Refusals – COVID-19

Course Description

This course covers your responsibilities when it comes to refusing work due to COVID-19 infection. It covers legal obligations and other information including information on encounters between the employee and employer and other personal circumstances that may be involved in the refusal.